IT WAS INCORPORATED ON AUGUST 1986, BY E. EDWARD VOGLER, JR. THE SECOND SCM WAS HELD ON OCTOBER 5, 1986. THE FIRST VOGLER REUNION WAS HELD ON APRIL 10-12, 1987 IN WINSTON-SALEM. Plans continue to move forward on the next family excursion; the destination, Maine and Nova Scotia, Canada, set for the summer of 2006. Be a part of this next Vogler adventure and see what awaits you; family fellowship, Canadian charm, an advantageous exchange rate, delightful temperatures, and fresh seafood. You will find an updated itinerary on page 2, penned by our resident tour guide Dr. Frederick W. Vogler. This trip will be full of wonderful sights, sounds, historical perspective, and of course, the company of family members that share a common bond. Along with Fred, Betty Vogler Houston, also a member of the trip committee, asks that any confirmed travelers for this trip, please fill out the form located on page 3 and mail it to her by the postmark date of December 15, 2005. Quite a bit of effort has gone into planning this trip and it would be nice to have everyone come and join the fun.

The itinerary begins with the group meeting in Portland, Maine on July 14, 2006 and proceeding up the Maine coastline and into Canada on the second day. The group will visit Louisbourg, the area where Philipp was married to Anna. This trip has been planned so there is something for everyone; historical sites, shopping, fine seafood dining, and time together with family. Another positive point; what was the high temperature where you were this past summer? The high temperature in Halifax, Nova Scotia on July 17, 2005 was 27; I know that sounds a bit chilly, however, when you do the conversion; it actually was a very pleasant 80 degrees. Consider this trip for your summer vacation next July. Participation in this trip is not restricted to Vogler family members, but all friends of the family, As our friends have placed an indelible mark on all past Vogler excursions, and again are encouraged to join us.

The Foundation continues to strive to educate and inform the descendants of our family. Encourage your family to get involved in information gathering. The only way we know of family happenings is if that news gets to one of the Board Members, or Steve Smith, the editor of the newsletter. E-mail addresses are found in every newsletter, as well as Steve's mailing address. Ask your family members this year at a holiday gathering if they are members of the Foundation, and if not, consider giving a membership as a present. We do have strength in numbers, and we are much better informed when people are active. Let someone know when a birth, death, wedding, graduation news, or any seminal moment in your families lives occur. The newsletter is one vehicle we can use to let our cousins know the latest.

Hope everyone has a great holiday season and we look forward to hearing from you soon. Everyone going on the trip needs to get those forms in by the postmark deadline of December 15, 2005.

Vogler Family Nova Scotia Trip Itinerary: Rescheduled For Summer 2006

DAY 1 – 7/14/2006 :PORTLAND, Maine: Group meets at Holiday Inn by the Bay, located in downtown Portland. The hotel provides a free van shuttle service to/from Portland International Jetport, Portland Train Station (Amtrak/Downeaster) and bus station. The hotel features an indoor pool, sauna, full service restaurant and lounge. For those driving in, free parking is provided for overnight guests. Afternoon is free for casual sightseeing in Portland's nearby art and waterfront districts, which are within walking distance of the hotel. Dinner included at the Holiday Inn by the Bay dining room (choice of menu with a variety of dinner entrees from which to choose). No motor coach service provided today. Luggage service to your room is included.

DAY 2 – 7/15/2006 :Portland – Bangor – St. John NB Canada: After an included buffet breakfast at the hotel (coupons provided), you'll meet your motor coach and driver who will stay with you until you return to Portland. Your luggage service from guest room to motor coach is included. Board the motor coach for a brief follow-up sightseeing tour of Portland before proceeding northeast along I-95 to Augusta (state capital), then on to Bangor. Lunch on own in Old Town, Maine before continuing to Orono, Maine (home of the University of Maine and Fogler Library, named in honor of our distinguished late cousin Raymond Fogler, who attended both our first and second reunions in 1987 and 1990). After brief stop there, the motor coach will return to Bangor and continues east to Calais, Maine. Pass through customs and immigration the border crossing into New Brunswick, Canada (ID information is required in advance). Set your watch ahead one hour as you cross the St. Croix River and proceed to New Brunswick's capital city of St. John. This restored 18th-century French fortress of Louisbourg is often called "the Williamsburg of the North" and was the scene of Philipp Christoph Vogler's 1746 marriage to Anna Catharina Seitz after its capture by New England volunteer soldiers supporting the British naval attack. As no hotels to accommodate a group near the fort, overnight tonight in the Sydney area with dinner included.

DAY 5 – 7/18/2006 :LOUISBOURG / HALIFAX / LUNENBURG: After breakfast at hotel, board bus to drive west across Cape Breton Island, crossing onto Nova Scotia mainland at Port Hastings. Lunch on own in the Waldoboro area, followed by local sightseeing (including greetings from representatives of local Old Broad Bay Historical Society, long in contact with our own Foundation). Bus then continues west along coast to So. Bristol and nearby Christmas Cove (discovered by Jamestown's Capt. John Smith on Christmas Day 1612), then proceeds directly to Portland for our final night together, back at the Holiday Inn by the Bay. Young Vogler Reader's Page

Here's a little trivia: Philip Christoph Vogler loved hockey. I mean, he loved it. In fact, he loved it so much that if he learned about the 301-day lockout hockey fans suffered through this past season, he would be appalled.

In his days, he never suffered through a lockout that wiped out an entire season. He never butted heads with ownership. He was just an all around good player.

If you don't remember any of this, I will refresh your memory; this is information that can only be found after hours of endless, painstaking research which I did for your convenience.

Philip Christoph was a member of the PCVF Hockey Team back in the mid- 1700s. That team struggled, and struggled often. But with time, they got better and went on to win the championship in 1765. And, yeah, you guessed it – Philip Christoph was the MVP. "I don't think it can get better than this," he said, in German nonetheless, after the game. Wrong.

He would later have an organization named after him and ancestry traced back through him. And not many people can say that about themselves. But that's beside the point.

He played the game because he loved it. And he wasn't too bad at it either, which made it that much more special for him. But he didn't obtain that skill for the game just by picking up a stick and hitting the ice; it took practice.

As a career 100-goal scorer, Philip Christoph was an elite athlete of his time, especially in the game of hockey, so much so that he is in the Hockey Hall of Fame.

What you just read is actually completely untruthful. Philip Christoph never played hockey, he never won a championship. There was no research, except from the top of my head. But this can serve as an important lesson to us all.

If you like participating in something, whether it is a sport or an activity, the only way to get better at it is to practice. Not the Allen Iverson "practice? We talkin' 'bout practice?" practice, but good, hard, persevering practice.

Philip Christoph would have never been so great at hockey, had it been popular or even existed in the United States at his time, without practice. Sure, natural talent exists. But to be among the elite, among the Wayne Gretzky's, the Mario Lemieux's, you must practice.

And if you don't succeed the first time, do what the popular adage says and "try, try again." You're having trouble scoring in hockey? Go ask your coach for help and keep practicing. You're having trouble with math? Go ask your teacher for help and keep practicing. Hard work will pay off, as it did in this fictional story of Philip Christoph. Perseverance is very important, especially when learning something new. You can't give in easily just because you're not good at it. Who knows? One day you might be as good as Philip Christoph supposedly was in hockey.

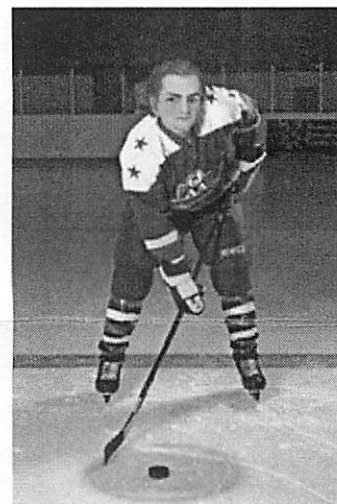

What better way to round out this piece than with an inspirational quote that ties everything together? William Ellery Channing once said, "Difficulties are meant to rouse, not discourage. The human spirit is to grow strong by conflict."

Dr. Augustin
Maissen (1921-1992)

Dr. Maissen was a Professor of Romance Languages at UNC and a colleague and friend of our Dr. Frederick W. Vogler. It was through this friendship and Dr. Maissen's travels that we came to know the definitive truth about our Swiss roots. In a trip to Europe in 1979, Dr. Maissen learned that there were two towns of similar name and that we had been focused on the wrong town as Philipp's hometown. Dr. Maissen, on his own time, sent inquiries to both towns asking for help in finding our printed family history. In January of 1980, Dr. Maissen received information from Pastor Mueller in Gondelsheim about Philipp and his father Hans Georg, as well as their immediate family for three generations. This was a tremendous find, and pivotal in ascertaining the true history of Vogler life in Europe. Sadly, Dr. Augustin Maissen passed away at the age of seventy one in May of 1992.

The detailed story of this is found in the Epilogue section C page 15 of the Descendants of PCV ; Books I II.
